DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

I. Species of the first application disclosed on pages 2-4; in particular, the invention of the first application on page 3 line 8 where "...the image processing method in the first application of the invention does not retrieve the shooting information, in the case of successful retrieval of the image processing information.

II. Species of the second application disclosed on pages 4-7; in particular, the invention of the second application on page 5 lines 4-8 where "The image processing method in the second application of the invention utilizes the shooting information, which is likely to be included in the image file, and even in the case of failed retrieval of the image processing control information, ensures execution of image processing based on at least the shooting condition".

III. Species of the third application disclosed on pages 7-10; in particular, the invention of the third application described on page 8 line 18 where "...it is preferable that the executing the image processing to the image data is carried out by converting at least part of the shooting information into image processing control information and executing the series of image processing of the image data according to the converted image processing control information.

IV. Species of the fourth application disclosed on pages 10-15; in particular, the invention of the fourth application on page 11 lines 12-24 and page 13 lines 4-13 where the image file is either a JPEG or TIFF file as described.

V. Species of the fifth application disclosed on pages 15-18; in particular, the invention of the fifth application on page 15 lines 19-29 where "...an image processing method that carries out a series of image processing with an image file that stores JPEG data and at least one of an application marker segment APP0, which represents a JFIF file, an application marker segment APP1, which is capable of storing shooting information representing a condition of generating image data, as well as image processing control information for specifying an image processing condition applied for the processing of the image data on an identical hierarchy and represents an Exif file, and an application marker segment APP6, which is capable of storing the image processing control information".

2. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic. There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112 first paragraph.

3. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

4. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 2625

5. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
